CONTENT:

Plant viruses have been in the past and still are good models in general virology including various defense systems (silencing, innate immunity) evolution, epidemiology.

This workshop on plant molecular virology will provide an extraordinary and unique possibility to discuss the recent advances in this field.

REGISTRATION

Deadline for abstract submission :

14th March, 2010

All participants are encouraged to present their work as a poster. Short oral presentations will be selected from submitted abstracts.
